Amateur Filmmaker, Portrait art, Future Sciences

Passionate about creativity in various forms, I explore multiple avenues of expression. As an amateur filmmaker, I delve into storytelling through the lens, capturing moments that evoke emotion and spark imagination. Alongside filmmaking, I channel my artistic vision into portrait art, crafting intimate renderings of individuals using graphite as my medium, striving to capture the essence of each subject.

Fascinated by the frontier of scientific exploration, I immerse myself in future sciences, delving into concepts like quantum tunneling, futurist theories, and the design of future habitats. With a keen interest in emerging technologies, I eagerly anticipate the advancements that will shape our world in the years to come.
